

Trinity School, Croydon: leading through values

Trinity School is proud of its students' results but, most of all, it's proud of who they become Trinity School, Croydon, is an independent day school for boys with a co-educational sixth form. At its heart lies an ethos of leading through values.

The community, built on generosity and kindness, ensures every student is known and cared for as an individual. In this nurturing environment, the school works with students to deliver great outcomes through a culture of strong values. This, in turn, opens doors to the world's best universities, colleges and careers.

Opportunities for enrichment

Students achieve some of the best academic results in the country, having also been encouraged to take up the wealth of opportunities offered outside the classroom — from more than 100 vibrant clubs and societies to a wide range of other academic enrichment and extension opportunities.

Small class sizes, tutors who really know each child and a highly trained pastoral care team all foster opportunities to flourish in a diverse, respectful and creative environment in which students benefit from outstanding teaching and facilities.

Entry points

Trinity welcomes applicants at 10+, 11+ 13+ and 16+. The sixth form has been co-educational for 10 years, with advocates of mixed schooling saying this model offers a real-world experience. The classroom is more diverse and is great preparation for university and life beyond.

Many girls join the school for both science and maths teaching, as well as for humanities and creative arts. Breadth and equality of opportunity crosses genders and develops all the students, who can cultivate their academic and co-curricular interests during their time at Trinity.

All applicants are assessed as potential academic scholars and Trinity also offers scholarships in sport, music, art, drama and technology. Around half the students receive some sort of financial support and, with the help of the John Whitgift Foundation and the Trinity Bursary Fund, the school is also able to offer bursarial provision. Parents choose Trinity as much for its well-grounded and diverse community as for its high academic standards and co-curricular opportunities, and the school's aim is for one in five students to receive bursarial support.

Outstanding results

Trinity is immensely proud of its leavers, who receive an impressive number of offers from top-tier institutions including Oxbridge, medical schools and Russell Group institutions. The school also supports those who opt to study overseas, apply for competitive degree apprenticeships, take a gap year or continue their studies at leading conservatoires and art colleges.

This year, more than 90% of leavers secured a place at their first-choice destination including Oxbridge and other leading universities; highly competitive degree apprenticeships; medical, dentistry and veterinary schools; leading conservatoires and art colleges; and universities in the US. At A Level, 39 students achieved straight A*s, with eight achieving five A*s, again placing the school among the most academic in London.

But, most of all, Trinity is proud of who its students become. Regardless of where they go next, students leave Trinity grounded, articulate and confident, with the opportunity to make a meaningful contribution to the many communities in which they find themselves.
